SUBJECT: Conversation with Secretary of Defense, 19 May 1980

1. We talked about the Secretary's trip to the NATO ministerial meetings.

c. NATO: Overall the ministers accepted Phases I and II of an enhanced program for NATO in light of Afghanistan. Phase I is to accelerate selected items of the long-range defense program like ammunition stockage and ECM gear procurement. Phase II is to see what the Europeans can do in the way of augmenting air and sea lift, infrastructure, and payment for forces based in their countries, etc. This will be worked up for discussion and agreement at the December meeting. (S/NF)

2. Secretary Brown did not go to the Middle East as programmed. He just thought it was an inappropriate time. (C/NF)

7. He asked if we have anything more on the location of the hostages. I said no. Dave Jones has asked [redacted] to get us whatever they have on the hostages' location and condition. [redacted] said he would try. (S/NF)

8. I went through the briefing I had given the President on Soviet attitudes towards military balance. Harold, I believe, thought it was generally good. He recognized the sensitive charts of comparative tank and aircraft capabilities. On the most controversial chart in the strategic section on the number of warheads the Soviets might procure by 1989, it was suggested we needed to take another look at the question of warhead productive capability. He did not doubt that they could find the fissionable material if they needed it. He wondered, however, if they didn't start now whether they could generate a big enough industrial effort to produce such large numbers of warheads by 1989. (S/NF)

9. I reported that we were making progress on a memorandum of understanding on [redacted] (C/NF)

10. He did not raise the [redacted] issue, and I did not either. (U)

11. We talked about Graham Claytor's statement in his forthcoming testimony before the HPSCI on the rescue operation. (C/NF)

12. I delivered Rae Huffstutler's memo on Soviet use of military forces as a pressure tactic. (C/NF)

13. I didn't discuss the U.S. and West Germany. Leave it in. (C/NF)

14. I didn't discuss the Cuban issue. Leave it in. (C/NF)

15. I didn't discuss COMSEC equipments. I think we can drop that until it comes to the fore again. (C/NF)

16. I didn't raise the Defense Reconnaissance Support Program. I will wait for discussions with [redacted] (C/NF)
